Fundamentals took the driver's seat and geopolitics moved to the backseat for seemingly the first time this year. While the U.S. health care bill and tensions with North Korea continued to make headlines, corporate earnings stole the show. According to FactSet data, with over 80% of S&P 500 companies reporting, more than 70% beat their earnings estimates, bringing the average year-over-year earnings growth rate to 10.1%. It was a similar story abroad as healthy corporate earnings and an improving economic outlook lifted global equities. The Russell 3000 Index rose 1.9% during the month. A declining dollar further bolstered non-U.S. equities. The MSCI ACWI ex U.S. Index advanced 3.7% and the MSCI Emerging Markets Index gained 6.0%. The U.S. Aggregate rose 0.4% as rates held fairly steady in July.

For the second straight month, nonfarm payroll growth was stronger than anticipated and the prior reading was revised upward. 209,000 jobs were added in July versus a consensus estimate of 178,000 and the June figure increased by 9,000. Further, the unemployment rate fell a tenth of percent to 4.3% despite the labor force participation rate climbing 0.1% to 62.9%. Month-over-month average hourly earnings rose 0.3% while year-over-year growth held steady at 2.5%. The Federal Open Market Committee (FOMC) held rates during the month but cited a tight and strengthening labor market as having the potential to spark inflation.

Consumer prices continued a recent streak of soft results. Month-over-month headline and core CPI gained 0.1% in July, which are no better than the low end of estimates. Year-over-year, the headline and core numbers are both up 1.7%, 0.1% below both of their consensus estimates. Housing, a central category, remains a major headwind to inflation, climbing 0.1% for the month. It is clear the FOMC will have to continue monitoring the inflation situation closely. On the positive side, GDP met expectations with the first estimate for second quarter growth coming in at 2.6%. Consumer spending continues to be a bright spot rising 2.8%. Business investment and federal government spending also contributed to GDP growth in the quarter.

*Due to a lag in the reporting of NCREIF Property Index returns, the monthly return shown is deduced from the most recent quarterly return. This monthly return, when compounded over three months, equates to the quarterly return.

U.S. equities continued their gains in July bolstered by strong corporate earnings and continued easy monetary policy. After a brief market hiccup on July 6, the Dow and S&P 500 indices went on a tear and closed at new record highs July 14. That same day the VIX sunk to a low not seen since 1993. Information Technology recovered from its late June swoon, reclaimed its position as top performing sector, and pushed growth to outperform the broader market. After losing some ground last month, large caps regained dominance over small caps (Russell 1000 Index: +2.0%; Russell 2000 Index: +0.7%). Similarly, the trend of growth outperforming value returned after taking a break in June (Russell 1000 Growth: +2.7%; Russell 1000 Value: +1.3%). The Russell Midcap Index (+1.5%) outperformed small cap but trailed large cap.

All 11 sectors were positive for the month. Growth and value stocks, cyclical and defensive sectors, were all represented in the top performers. Telecom led, returning 6.4%, followed by Technology which rose 4.3%. Energy followed, increasing 2.5%, with Utilities and Consumer Discretionary trailing closely behind at 2.4% and 1.9%, respectively. Industrials was the worst performing sector, up only 0.1%.

Major world economies continue to experience accommodative policy with near absent inflation. The Bank of Japan (BOJ) voted at its policy meeting on July 20 to hold its bond buying program constant but delayed the date it says the Japanese economy is expected to reach 2% inflation. Markets in the EU responded positively to improving economic conditions in July. Greece successfully issued debt for the first time since 2014. The EU unemployment rate fell to 9.1%, the lowest rate since February 2009. At its policy meeting on July 20, the European Central Bank (ECB) voted to hold its bond buying program and interest rate policy steady. Draghi's comments were less hawkish than at the prior month's meeting and markets responded favorably. However, euro zone inflation remains stubbornly non-existent. The euro strengthened against the dollar during the month, reaching a two-year record high. A swooning dollar propelled international equity returns higher throughout the period (MSCI EAFE Index: +2.9% vs MSCI EAFE Hedged Index: +0.8%) and U.S. stocks trailed their international counterparts (Russell 3000 Index: +1.9% vs MSCI ACWI ex U.S. Index: +3.7%). Emerging markets benefited not only from the falling dollar but also from oil prices that stabilized then rose the last part of the month. The MSCI EM Index was a top performer and gained 6.0% for the period.

MSCI regional returns were positive across the board with emerging markets outpacing developed. Latin American markets were the runaway victor despite unrest in Venezuela and Brazil. The MSCI Latin America Index rose 8.3% for the month. Asian and European emerging markets followed, up 5.7% (MSCI EM Asia Index) and 5.2% (MSCI EM Europe Index), respectively. Despite continuing concern over Brexit and subpar inflation figures, the MSCI Europe Index gained 3.0% in July. Japan brought up the rear with an increase of 2.0% (MSCI Japan Index).

Treasury Yield Curve

The FOMC left the Fed Funds rate unchanged during their July meeting at a range of 1.00% - 1.25%. While the result was anticipated, focus quickly moved to the reinvestment policy related to assets maturing from the balance sheet. The Fed provided no specific date of when the unwinding would begin, but noted process initiation would come "relatively soon." The market is currently pricing in almost no chance of a hike in September but about a 40% chance of an additional hike by year end, down from 50% in June. On the extreme short end of the Treasury curve, the 1-month increased 16 basis points to 1.00%. Otherwise the curve steepened slightly. The 2-year dropped four basis points to 1.38%, and the 30-year rose five basis points to 2.89%.

Fixed income returns were up across the board in July. The Bloomberg Aggregate Index (+0.4%) provided solid returns after a difficult June where all but two fixed income sectors experienced a loss. High yield (ML High Yield CP Index) continued its charge up 1.2% during the month, the only sector to gain over 1.0%. Leveraged loans (CS Leveraged Loan Index) and investment grade credit (Bloomberg Credit Index) also climbed in July, up 0.8% and 0.7%, respectively. TIPS (Bloomberg U.S. TIPS Index) and mortgages (Bloomberg Mortgage Backed Securities Index) both returned 0.5% during the month, bouncing back from poor performance in June. Finally, governments (Bloomberg U.S. Government Index) gained a modest 0.2%. All fixed income sectors remain positive year to date.

(17-08-03) (Pension Administration Benchmarking Presentation) Ms. Mangat from CEM Benchmarking, Inc. (CEM) along with the Deputy Executive Director, presented IMRF's benefit administration benchmarking results for the fiscal year 2016.

The Deputy Executive Director stated that in addition to providing important benchmarking metrics, this study helps IMRF identify customer service activities offering improvement possibilities. This is consistent with IMRF's ongoing Journey of Excellence initiatives, and with IMRF's approach to continuous process improvement. As a result of analyzing CEM reports, IMRF has implemented numerous service improvements over the years.

Ms. Mangat presented the following key highlights from the 2016 CEM Report:

- IMRF's total cost was $95 per active member and annuitant ($34 below the peer average cost of $129), which is excellent cost performance given higher volumes in key member and employer transactions; higher cost environment; and, high service scores that consistently rank in the top 10% to 15% of the North American Peer Group.
- IMRF ranks 7th in overall service in the North American Peer Group (out of 42 public pension systems);
- IMRF is one of the few peers that offer all 18 of CEM's listed online transaction tools, the highest number measured in CEM's database.

The presentation was followed by discussion.

(17-08-11) (Expanded Litigation Update) The following is the annual expanded update of the currently pending litigation

IN RE TRIBUNE CO, ET AL. , THE OFFICIAL COMMITTEE OF UNSECURED CREDITORS OF TRIBUNE CO, ET AL. VS. FITZSIMONS, ET AL.

Facts: The unsecured creditors in the Chicago Tribune bankruptcy sued investors who sold their Tribune stock at the time of the leveraged buyout by the group headed by Sam Zell. IMRF sold its stock to the buyout group and so is a defendant in this matter. At the time Tribune Company exited from bankruptcy, this lawsuit was assigned to a trustee to continue on behalf of the creditors. IMRF received $4 million in the sale.

Current Status: The stockholders' motion to dismiss the intentional fraudulent transfer claim was granted on January 6, 2017 and the claim against them was dismissed. The other portion of this claim against the stockholders was previously dismissed on motions and that decision was upheld on appeal. The defendants did not object to the creditors' request to be allowed to appeal the January 6 decision, notwithstanding that claims against other defendants remain to be litigated. Therefore, there is now an appeal pending.

KATHLEEN KONICKI V. IMRF (14 MR 32) (SANGAMON CO) Fourth District Appellate Court No. 4-17-0056

Facts: Plaintiff was a Will County Board member from 1996 through 2012. Will County had adopted Original ECO in 1998. On January 26, 2000 Original ECO was closed and Revised ECO became effective. Plaintiff's first ECO contributions were made in 2007; seven years after Revised ECO became effective. IMRF would only allow participation in Revised ECO and Plaintiff believed she had a vested right to participate in Original ECO. The Act creating Revised ECO provided a new subsection h:

"The changes to this Section made by this amendatory Act of the 91st General Assembly apply to persons who first make an additional contribution under this Section on or after the effective date of this amendatory Act." (emphasis added). (40 ILCS 5/7-145.1(h))

Plaintiff claimed that the law allowed persons with pre-January 26, 2000 service to convert such service to Original ECO, and that Revised ECO was unconstitutional under the Pension Protection Clause as applied to her. The Board upheld the staff determination and Plaintiff appealed. The County and the Attorney General refused to become involved in the case.

Current Status: Plaintiff has appealed to the Fourth District Appellate Court. After numerous requests by Plaintiff to file a brief in excess of the page limitation, Plaintiff filed a brief which did not comply with the Supreme Court rules. IMRF's motion to strike the Plaintiff's brief was granted. Plaintiff was given until August 24, 2017 to file a new brief and IMRF will have 35 days to respond to the new brief (September 28, 2017).

MOTORS LIQUIDATION COMPANY AVOIDANCE ACTION TRUST VS. JP MORGAN CHASE, ET AL. (US BANKRUPTCY CT., SO. DIST. OF N.Y.)

Facts: This is litigation that came out of the General Motors bankruptcy. A loan to GM in which IMRF was an investor was paid off after the bankruptcy filing. It was later discovered that an error, before the bankruptcy, had released part of the security for this loan. A group of unsecured creditors sued to force the recipients of the loan pay-off proceeds to return them to the bankruptcy estate. It took several years before the plaintiffs could find all of the loan investors to serve notice of the lawsuit. IMRF received approximately $3.3 million in proceeds from this investment.

Current Status: The parties are currently arguing about the value of the remaining security. We are sharing our defense counsel with several other public pension funds.

THERESA MILLER V. IMRF (16 MR 58 MONROE COUNTY)

Summary: This is an administrative review of the Board's decision to deny total and permanent disability benefits to Ms. Miller.

Current Status: The matter is pending in circuit court. IMRF's answer and appearance were filed on 11/28/2016. The Plaintiff's counsel has contacted IMRF and an agreed briefing schedule is currently being negotiated.

KATHERINE HADLER V. IMRF (16 MR 1375 DUPAGE COUNTY) SECOND DISTRICT
APPELLATE COURT NO. 2-17-0303

Facts: Ms. Hadler received temporary disability benefits from IMRF for a condition. The existence of her condition is not disputed but issue involved is whether her condition prevented her from engaging in gainful activity as defined by IMRF and the Pension Code. The IMRF Board decided to deny total and permanent disability to Ms. Hadler and the Circuit Court upheld the denial. The case is currently on appeal to the Second District Appellate Court.

Current Status: Judge Fullerton issued a written decision on April 3, 2017 upholding the decision of the IMRF Board as supported by the evidence. Ms. Hadler has appealed to the Second District Appellate Court and IMRF's brief is due on August 29, 2017.

CARRIE MCHUGH V. IMRF (17 MR 135 KANE COUNTY)

Facts: Under the Pension Code, an IMRF member cannot be separated from service with his/her IMRF employer on the effective date of their disability and still be eligible for disability benefits. The effective date of Ms. McHugh's disability was May 16, 2014. However, Ms. McHugh entered into a voluntary resignation and severance agreement dated May 15, 2014. Her voluntary resignation made her ineligible for IMRF disability under the statute because she was separated from service with her IMRF employer. This is an administrative review of the IMRF Board's decision adopting the recommendation of the IMRF hearing officer which found that Ms. McHugh was ineligible for disability benefits due to a voluntary termination of her employment with the City of Aurora.

Current Status: IMRF's answer and appearance were filed and a status is set for 10/19/2017.

JOSHUA PEA V. IMRF (ST. CLAIR COUNTY 17 MR 1380)

Summary: This is an appeal challenging the Board's denial of total and permanent disability benefits to Mr. Pea.

Current Status: Case is pending in circuit court. IMRF timely filed an appearance and the administrative record in November of 2016. The case has been pending with no action from the Plaintiff. This is not uncommon in the southern Illinois area. However, IMRF intends to file a motion to dismiss for want of prosecution.

CASES CLOSED (8/16 through 8/17)

Oak Brook v. Sheahan- challenge to transferred service, and ultimately 3 counterclaims against IMRF based on constitutional claim. IMRF was successful in getting all 3 counterclaims dismissed. The initial circuit court opinion overturning the IMRF Board was upheld by the Second District Appellate Court. This is the case that invalidated Mr. Sheahan's service transfers.

Sheahan v. IMRF-Sheahan's challenge to IMRF ceasing his pension payments after his service transfers were invalidated. IMRF's decision was upheld by the Appellate Court, overturning the Circuit Court's decision.

Bolin v. IMRF- challenge to IMRF's decision that Public Defender was not eligible for enrollment. IMRF's decision overturned by the Circuit Court.

McLean County v. IMRF- This was a challenge to the denial of an AP exemption and was voluntarily dismissed by the Plaintiff based upon a Board resolution allowing adjustments in the case of backpay pursuant to collective bargaining agreements.

NEW CASES (8/16 through 8/17)

McHugh v. IMRF

Hadler v. IMRF

Joshua Pea v. IMRF

Linda Miller v. IMRF

Next, Board Members discussed the validity of parks director Joe Vallez' eligibility to participate in IMRF.

After questions and discussion, it was moved Mr. Kuehne, seconded by Mr. Wallace, to have staff further pursue whether Joe Vallez is eligible to participate in IMRF.

(17-08-11) (Legislative Update) The Legislative Liaison and IMRF's Legislative Consultant presented a wrap up of IMRF's legislative activity during the 100th General Assembly.

- House Bill 3070 - codifies current IMRF practice to allow members to make one payment for service credit purchases after termination, as long as a valid application is received while the member is still active.
