

Request For Rollover Approval for Past Service

IMRF Form 6.01 (Rev. 10/07)

Do not withdraw any funds or send any rollover distributions to IMRF
before we advise you of your eligibility to do so.

IMRF must review your rollover information before we can accept a rollover.

Please allow at least 10 days for this review.

If you are participating in the Tax-deferred Payroll Deduction Program (TPDP), you may not use funds from a rollover to purchase the months covered by that agreement. However, if you stop working for your employer, the TPDP contract is terminated. You then have one opportunity to use funds (including a rollover) to purchase any remaining months.

For rollover for ERI (Early Retirement Incentive), please use form 6.01E, instead of this form.

1. Do NOT send money with this form

Before IMRF can accept any rollover monies, specific information must be submitted to IMRF for an eligibility review.

2. What you and your financial institution must do

Your financial institution must provide ALL information required on the form. The institution completes Section 2 of the Rollover Certification form. Be sure to:

- check what type of account the rollover is coming from.
- indicate what amount is tax deferred.
- indicate what amount is previously taxed.

3. Rollover distributions we CANNOT accept

The Internal Revenue Code (IRC) regulations do not permit us to accept a rollover distribution from:

- any rollover funds greater than the total cost of your past service. The maximum amount we can accept cannot exceed the total due on your payment schedule(s)
- a Roth IRA
- previously taxed money in a traditional IRA

4. Rollover distributions we CAN accept

Federal tax laws allow IMRF to accept rollover distributions for payment of past service in certain circumstances. The rollover must be from:

- another qualified pension plan (for example, an out-of-state public retirement system) OR
- a traditional IRA OR
- an IRC section 457 plan OR
- an IRC section 403(b) plan

5. When your rollover request is approved

When IMRF contacts you (either by phone or letter) and advises you that we can accept the rollover funds as a tax-deferred payment, you are responsible for contacting your financial institution to arrange the transfer. IMRF cannot direct your financial institution to process the transfer — the request must come from you as a holder of the account.

6. If you send an ineligible distribution to IMRF

If you send a rollover distribution to IMRF that federal tax laws do not allow us to accept, the rollover distribution will be returned either to you or to your financial institution.

7. If your rollover is from a traditional IRA the financial institution may not know what amount is tax deferred. In that case, please submit a letter in which you certify what portion of the money in the account is tax deferred and what portion is previously taxed. Please make sure you sign and date the letter and that it includes your Social Security number. Without a certification from either the financial institution or from the above letter, we will not be able to approve your rollover request.
