Distributions from Eligible Plans for Public Safety Retiree Health and Long-Term Care Insurance Premiums

Effective January 1, 2007, the Pension Protection Act of 2006 (PPA) allows retired or disabled public safety employees to take a tax reduction of up to $3,000 on their federal income tax return for health insurance or long-term care insurance premiums. The health insurance or long-term care insurance coverage can include the member, spouse and dependents.

You must be terminated from your IMRF employer because you were disabled or because you reached full (normal) retirement age (60 for Regular plan members or 55 with 35 years of service credit, 55 for ECO plan members and 50 for SLEP and SLEP-ECO plan members). The insurance premiums must be paid directly from your pension.

Taking the $3,000 deduction on your federal income tax returns

Your 1099-R tax statement will show your full pension payments before the deduction for insurance premiums. You take the deduction by reducing the taxable amount of your pension by the amount you paid for insurance premiums when completing Form 1040 or Form 1040A, "U.S. Individual Income Tax Return."

What is the definition of a public safety employee?

The PPA uses the definition in Section 1204(9)(A) of the Omnibus Crime Control and Safe Streets Act of 1968 (42 U.S.C. 3796b(9)(A)). That definition includes the following individuals serving a public agency in an official capacity:

- An individual involved in crime and juvenile delinquency control or reduction, or enforcement of the criminal laws (including juvenile delinquency), including, but not limited to police, corrections, probation, parole, and judicial officers
- Professional firefighters
- Officially recognized or designated:
  - Public employee members of a rescue squad or ambulance crew
  - Members of a legally organized volunteer fire department
  - Chaplains of volunteer fire departments, fire departments, and police departments

The amount deducted will be paid directly to your insurer

Reimbursements are not covered. For you to take advantage of this deduction, IMRF must pay the premium to the insurance provider directly.

What if your insurance premium amounts change?

You are required to inform IMRF of any change in the amount of your premiums. We must have notice of any change by the 10th of the month prior to the month the amount is to change. You must pay your insurance provider directly for any premiums due in addition to the amount deducted from your pension.

What if your insurance premiums exceed $3,000 annually?

IMRF will deduct the premiums instructed from each pension payment. You may only reduce your taxable income by the amount actually paid in premiums, up to a maximum of $3,000.

Is the deduction is available to an IMRF member's spouse?

No, the deduction is available only on the election of the member. No other individual is eligible to make the election. This deduction not available to surviving spouses.
