Economic Review

Market Commentary

Global markets continued their rally during February as the world saw a swift rollout of COVID-19 vaccinations and an ongoing drop in infection rates, especially in the United States.

Throughout the month, investors expected an approval for a third stimulus package in the U.S. to help boost the recovery of the economy. Because of the expected third stimulus package, concerns of higher inflation forced government yields higher during the month, providing a headwind for aggregate bond investors.

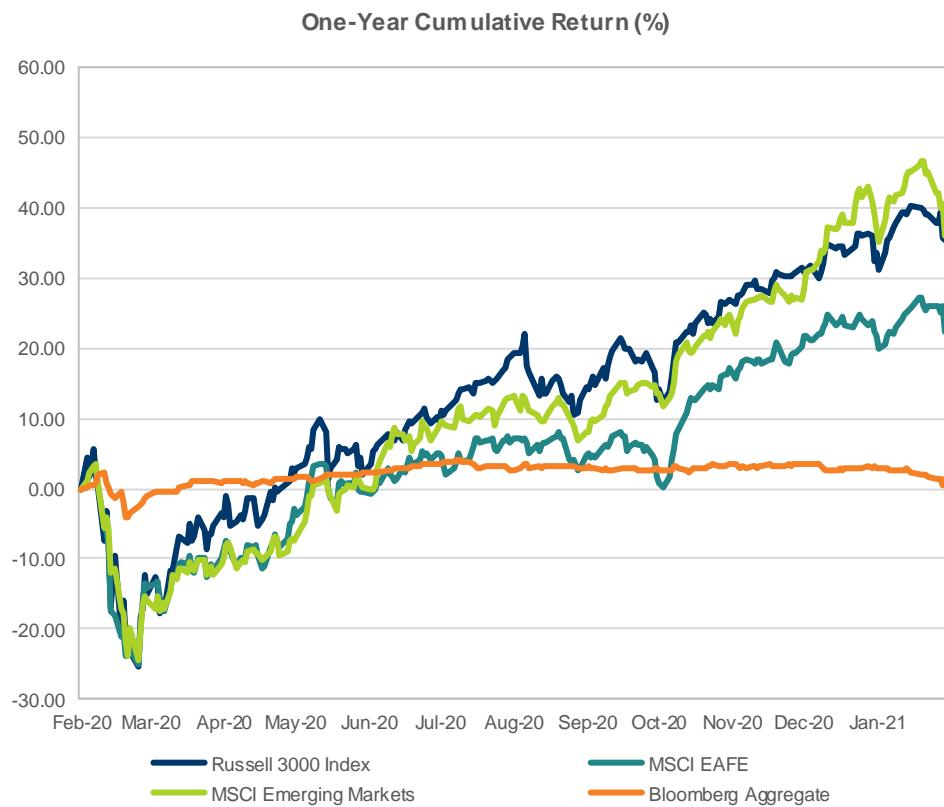

The U.S. economy continued to improve during the month, despite a drop in retail sales and consumer sentiment.

Unemployment in the United States declined during February from 6.3% to 6.2% having added 379,000 jobs during the month.

Manufacturing in the United States continued to grow during February. The ISM Manufacturing Index registered 60.8 percent, up from 58.7 percent during January.

Consumer sentiment in the United States fell during the month, as the University of Michigan Consumer Sentiment Index marked a reading of 76.8 during February, down from 79.0 at the end of January.

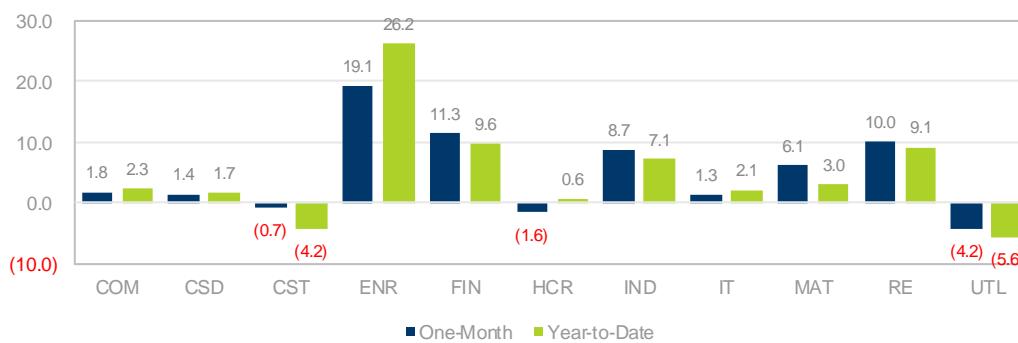

Similarly, consumer spending, as marked by seasonally adjusted retail sales, fell 3.0% during the month, with an expectation of a sharp recovery from many global analysts.

Sector Returns (%)

Market Commentary

The U.S. stock market rose during February, up +3.1% during the month. Year-to-date, the Russell 3000 Index is up +2.7%.

Investors in the U.S. continued to anticipate the approval of President Biden's COVID relief package worth $1.9 trillion. The massive stimulus package would be in addition to the recently approved relief package in December 2020, as well as a third completed in early 2020. Economists expect this additional stimulus to lead to significant consumer spending, particularly once more restrictions are lifted across the country.

Small capitalization stocks continued their rally versus large capitalization stocks during February, now outperforming for six straight months. The Russell 2000 Index returned +6.2% versus +2.9% for the Russell 1000 Index.

Value stocks again led growth stocks during the month, with Small Cap Value being among the highest returners, up +9.4% during February.

Energy continued its recovery, up +19.1% during the month, and +26.2% year-to-date. All, but three sectors were positive during February with Consumer Staples, Health Care and Utilities being the largest laggards.

Non-U.S. Equity Market

Market Commentary

Equity markets outside of the United States trailed U.S. stocks during February, but were also positive, up +2.0%.

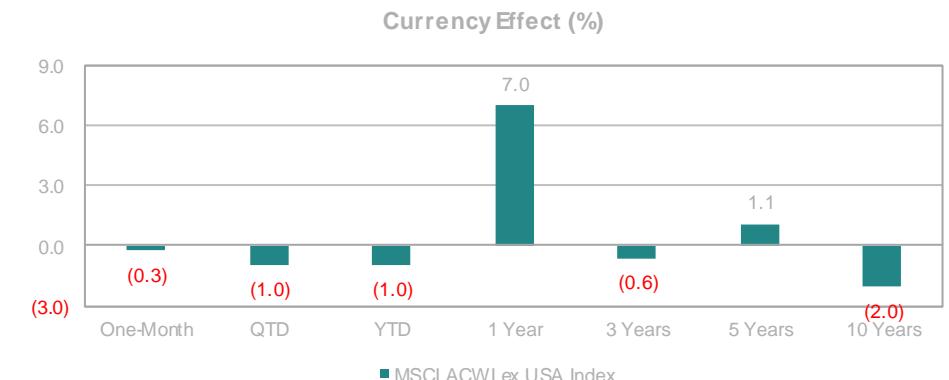

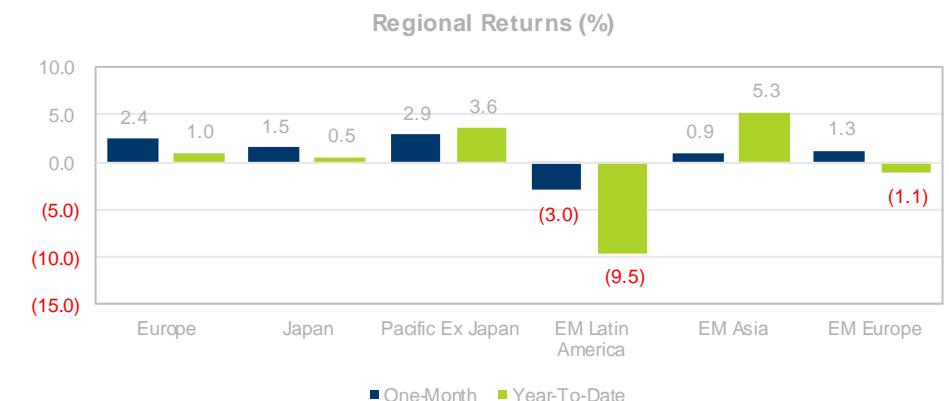

Developed markets led emerging markets during the month, a reversal from recent history, up +2.2% versus +0.8% for emerging markets equities. Year-to-date; however, emerging markets are leading developed markets, up +3.9% versus +1.2%, respectively.

Despite a vaccine rollout delay across much of developed Europe, the U.K. has managed quite well, having already vaccinated over 20 million people by the end of the month.

Additionally, the European Parliament provided the 'go-ahead' for the Recovery and Resilience Facility, which aims to mitigate the economic and social impact of the pandemic. Investors hope that a rapid implementation will gain additional traction for cash flow into Europe.

The U.S. Dollar continued to strengthen during the month of February, providing a slight headwind for U.S.-based investors of -0.3%. Year-to-date, the strengthening of the U.S. Dollar has cost U.S.-based investors approximately 1.0% of return.

Fixed Income Market

Market Commentary

During February, markets already began pricing in higher inflation, forcing the U.S. Treasury Yield Curve to steepen during the month. The 10-year Treasury yield ended the month at 1.41%, up 32 basis points from the end of January. The 30-year Treasury Yield also increased during the month up 31 basis points, to 2.16%. As a result, rate-based markets again fell during the month with the Bloomberg Barclays U.S. Aggregate returning -1.4% during February.

Credit spreads remained modestly tight during the month in both investment grade and below-investment grade fixed income. Investment grade spreads ending the month at 90 basis points, down 7 basis point from the end of January, while below-investment grade spreads ended to the month at 326 basis points, down 36 basis points during the month. High yield bond markets continued to be strong returners in fixed income, up +0.4% for the month, and +0.7% year-to-date.

Market Commentary

U.S. and global real estate securities were both positive during February, with U.S. real estate up for the month, +3.3% and global real estate up +2.8%.

Commodities were again strong returners during the month as energy prices continued their rebound. The Bloomberg Commodity Index was up +6.5% and the S&P GSCI Index was up +10.6%.

The price of oil continued to rise during the month, up +17.8% and ending February at $61.50 per barrel. Over the trailing one-year, oil is now up approximately +37.4%.

IMRF Performance

IMRF Commentary

IMRF Commentary

The Illinois Municipal Retirement Fund (“IMRF”) ended February 2021 with a market value of $51.0 billion, up for the month by approximately $1.0 billion. IMRF returned +2.27% during the month, outperforming the Total Fund Benchmark which returned +1.23%.

During February, U.S. Equity was again the largest contributor to Total Fund outperformance, returning +4.27% versus +3.13% for the benchmark. Investment manager performance in Large Cap and Small Cap both added to relative outperformance during February. Additionally, the Total Fund Portfolio’s overweight to U.S. Equity contributed to relative outperformance, as U.S. Equity was one of the strongest returning asset classes during the month.

The Internally Managed Scientific Beta Portfolio performed in-line with the benchmark during February, returning +2.57% versus +2.59%. Since inception, the strategy has outperformed the benchmark, returning +10.58% versus +10.33%.

The Internally Managed GSAM-Factor Diversity Portfolio underperformed the benchmark during the month, returning +2.30% versus +2.76% for the benchmark. Since inception, the strategy has returned +16.34% versus +15.85% for the benchmark.

The Public Real Assets Portfolio underperformed its benchmark during the month returning -1.06% versus -0.70%.

The International Equity Portfolio modestly trailed the benchmark during February, returning +1.90% versus +1.98%. In aggregate, investment manager performance in Large Cap Growth, All Cap and Emerging Markets detracted from relative performance during the month. Additionally, although Small Cap stocks were ahead of the broad Non-U.S. Equity market during the month (returning +3.62%), IMRF’s investment managers underperformed and detracted from overall performance, returning +1.28%.

The Fixed Income Portfolio outperformed the benchmark during the month returning -1.34% versus -1.44% for the benchmark. The Portfolio’s dedicated allocations to High Yield and Bank Loans were the largest contributors to relative outperformance during February, as both markets generated positive returns. Investment manager performance in Core, Core Plus and Emerging Markets challenged relative outperformance during the month, as these managers trailed the benchmark, in aggregate.

As of February month-end, Domestic Equity and International Equity were 4.6% and 4.1%, respectively, over their targets. The current Statement of Investment Policy states that when actual allocations of the asset classes differ by more than four percentage points from their policy target, a recommendation for rebalancing will be made to the Board of Trustees. The Interim Chief Investment Officer and Consultant do not recommend any rebalancing at this time to the strategic allocation targets.
