What IMRF Voluntary Additional Contributions Can Do For You

IMRF’s Voluntary Additional Contributions (VAC) program is a unique and very effective savings vehicle available to IMRF members only, to help supplement retirement savings. The VAC program is low-risk and offers higher interest rates than many other retirement savings options.

With VAC, you can elect to save between 1% and 10% of your reported earnings in an account that currently earns 7.25% interest. In the midst of the market downturn, with IRA and 401(k) totals dropping, the 7.25% interest rate of VAC is a particularly attractive option for retirement saving.

The interest is credited at the end of the year, based on the opening balance at the beginning of the year. Contributions are after-tax and do not reduce your taxable income as in a 457 or 403(b) plan.

IMRF members who begin contributing under the age of 40 will benefit significantly from the compounding interest on their contributions, which will add up to substantial savings by the time of retirement.

VAC is a great way to build the personal savings members may need to supplement their pensions in retirement.

IMRF Staying Strong During Market Downturn

In 2021, IMRF’s investment assets grew at a historic rate. At the end of the fiscal year, IMRF had $57.3 billion in investment assets and was 98.6% funded, which is a significantly better funding level than the vast majority of pension plans in the US.

In 2022, IMRF’s investment assets were down through July 31, due to a number of global challenges, such as rising interest rates, growing inflation, and the war in Ukraine. However, as a long-term investor, IMRF has had consistent, steady growth in assets across the past ten years and is weathering the 2022 market downturn.

Be assured, your contributions and your future pension are safe! With a 98.6% funded status at the end of last fiscal year, IMRF is well on its way to its 100% funding goal. IMRF is financially sound!

IMRF Disability Benefits Protect

- Your Service Credit
- Your Pension
- Your Family

Your IMRF disability benefits are important for multiple reasons. As an IMRF member, if you become disabled, your IMRF disability benefits will not only provide for monthly payments equal to 50% of your monthly salary, but will also protect your pension and your death benefits.

IMRF disability benefits are very valuable, because while receiving disability payments:

- Your service credit is protected—you continue to earn service credit toward your future pension and you avoid any gaps in service that could affect your future benefits.

- Your pension is protected—your retirement benefit will be calculated using your original salary, not the reduced disability amount.

- Your family is protected—your death benefits will still include one year's salary, and death benefit options are the same as if you were still working.

If you have questions about your IMRF disability benefits, the answers are now available on the IMRF website! To view the Disability Benefit information for your plan, click the Members tab at the top of the IMRF homepage at www.imrf.org. Select your plan from the drop down menu. Once you select your plan, an additional drop down will appear below. Click on Disability Benefits.

To locate the specific topic related to your question, check the table of contents in the right column of the webpage, also shown here.
